

Action learning sets to support child and family ASYE assessors/supervisors

We are pleased to be able to provide more action learning development programmes for supervisors and assessors in child and family services. These ILM Recognised programmes will be delivered virtually by our colleagues at the Centre for Action Learning. Programme overview

This programme is designed to provide participants with a robust introduction to action learning practices and insight into its unique benefits for personal and peer development.

The programme will provide a reflective space to support ASYE supervisors currently developing and supporting newly qualified social workers in child and family services, to receive support from their peers to address challenges in their practice and share best practice. We will do this by creating an ongoing inclusive and psychologically safe spaces for participants, where they can feel a full sense of belonging in the group and bring their whole selves.

managed action learning set as an equal member with a similarly minded community of practice.

The focus will be to harness the most valuable aspect of action learning; that of creating opportunities for wider organisational or systemic learning about supporting NQSWs. We do this by developing ways of transferring the tacit knowledge developed within sets into the wider community and by facilitating an approach
